What is this about? An approximately $6.6 million dollar Settlement has been reached in a class action lawsuit against the San Diego Unified Port District (the “Port”) claiming that the Port’s Resolution 2018-065 and Ordinance 2030, which required rental car companies to collect from their customers and remit to the Port a $3.50 fee (the “Fee”) for each transaction on Port tidelands, was an illegal and unconstitutional tax. The Port denies the claims in this lawsuit and denies that individual consumers who rented vehicles have a claim against the Port. Both parties have agreed to settle the lawsuit.

Who is included? You received this email because rental car companies have identified you as having paid the Fee. The Settlement Class includes all persons who rented vehicles from rental car companies, with the rentals originating at locations in San Diego, California on Port tidelands, from the period of May 10, 2018, to July 24, 2020, and who were assessed a $3.50 fee by the rental car companies that was then remitted to the Port.

What does the Settlement provide? The Port will pay approximately $6.6 million dollars to create a Settlement Fund from which all Cash Awards and Settlement Costs will be paid. All Settlement Class Members who submit a valid Claim Form will be eligible to receive a Cash Award determined by the number of rentals claimed by the Settlement Class Member multiplied by $3.50. If the dollar value of all valid claims exceeds the Net Settlement Fund, the Cash Awards will be reduced pro rata. Claims for more than 6 rentals (for more than $21) must be made under penalty of perjury, and claims for more than 20 rentals (for more than $70) must include evidence in support of the claim. Visit the website for additional details.
